

Luca Pacioli (1445-1517), best known as the inventor of the dual entry accounting system, was a famous scientist and mathematician. He invented a method for building up icosahedron, a regular solid with “divine proportions”.

The key to this method is the use of three golden rectangles positioned on three plans, each perpendicular to the other.

Refimi SRL uses these same rectangles to communicate its mission: it is the instrument for realizing ambitious projects.